PAPERS

We are inviting submission of original research papers (12 pages maximum), which may be theoretical, empirical, methodological, literature reviews, or case studies, and must align with one of the ten ANZAM Conference Streams listed below.

All papers submitted to the Conference will be subject to double blind review. There will be two kinds of paper presentation sessions: Refereed Published Papers and Refereed Interactive Papers. Both are published in the proceedings Delivered sessions are designed for papers that are more fully developed towards a final manuscript. Delivered sessions involve a formal author presentation (with slide display) and time for discussion, questions, and answers. We will strive to make these papers available in hybrid delivery.

Refereed Presented Papers (12 pages)

Refereed Interactive Papers (12 pages)

Interactive sessions are held in a roundtable discussion format and will be available in a hybrid delivery. Here the presentation will be shorter (with no slide display) to allow for more engaging discussion with researchers with similar interests.

These interactive sessions are ideal for shorter manuscripts, work-in-progress pieces as well as those seeking the opportunity for further collaboration.

Page limits do not include references, tables, figures or the cover page. The Conference Chair reserve the right to shift papers from one presentation session to another.

Please refer to the ANZAM Conference Paper Style Guide and ensure you read the General Policies & Requirements section before submitting your paper (www.anzamconference.org)

WORKSHOP AND SYMPOSIA

The ANZAM Conference Program includes Workshops and Research Symposia focused on professional development topics to increase the value of the Conference for participants. Workshops and Research Symposia cover a broad domain of topics, including research methods, getting published, grants and external funding, accreditation processes, teaching innovations, managing workloads, supervision, management practice, etc. Where possible, workshops will be held in blended environment using Microsoft Teams.

These sessions are scheduled for approximately 100 minutes. The criteria for selecting Workshops and Research Symposia for inclusion in the Conference Program include: - Relevance to ANZAM's purpose - Relevance to the Conference theme - Relevance of presenters' expertise - Professional development potential for participants - Topicality and/or research quality. Delegates who wish to present a Workshop or Research Symposium must complete the application form available on the Conference website and submit it by email to the ECU Conference Chair (r.gould@griffith.edu.au)
